

REGULATIONS FOR HIGHER DOCTORATES

Any publication based on work approved for a higher degree should contain a reference to the effect that the work was submitted to the University of Hong Kong for the award of the degree.

REGULATIONS FOR THE DEGREE OF DOCTOR OF MEDICINE (MD)

M27 Definition

The degree of Doctor of Medicine is a postgraduate degree, awarded for original observations that make a definite contribution to medical knowledge, presented in the form of a thesis deserving of publication.

M28 Admission Requirements

A candidate for registration for the degree of MD

- (a) shall comply with the General Regulations;
 - (b) shall be
 - (i) a Bachelor of Medicine and Bachelor of Surgery of this University whose degrees have been conferred not less than three years before the date of application for registration; or
 - (ii) the holder of equivalent qualifications from another university or comparable institution accepted for this purpose who is a full-time Teacher or equivalent appointee of at least five years' standing in one of the departments of the Faculty of Medicine of this University;
 - (c) shall submit satisfactory evidence of his or her postgraduate training and appropriate experience in the field of study proposed.

M29 Registration

- (a) A candidate shall be permitted to register on the first day of any month of the year and shall be required to submit his or her thesis not later than at the end of five calendar years from his or her date of first registration.
 - (b) An advisor shall be appointed by the Head of the Department of Medicine to advise the candidate on the research work and presentation of the thesis.

M30 Title of Thesis

A candidate shall submit the title of the thesis for approval not later than three months before the submission of his or her thesis for examination; no modification of the title shall be made thereafter without further approval.

M31 Submission of Thesis

- (a) The thesis usually consists of a series of papers on the same or related subject published or unpublished provided that it shall be presented in the form of a thesis and shall be written in English. A mere compilation is not acceptable as a thesis. An extensive, in-depth and critical review of the background literature is expected.

- (b) A candidate shall present four copies of the thesis for examination typed or printed and bound in accordance with the regulations governing the format, binding, and presentation of theses, together with a written declaration that it represents his or her own work and that it has not been submitted to any other institution in application for admission to a degree, diploma, or other qualification. If the thesis contains contributions that are not the candidate's own work, the extent of such contributions shall be declared.

M32 Examinations

The thesis shall be examined by examiners appointed for this purpose. The candidate may be required by the examiners to attend an examination, written or oral, on the thesis. The examiners shall be nominated by the Head of the Department of Medicine, who may also serve as an Internal Examiner or Chairman of the Oral Examination.

M33 Examination Results

- (a) A candidate who has satisfied the examiners shall be recommended for conferment of the degree of Doctor of Medicine.
- (b) A candidate who has not satisfied the examiners
- (i) may be required to resubmit his or her thesis after making corrections and amendments as required by the examiners, without a new examination; or
 - (ii) may be required to revise and resubmit his or her thesis for a new examination within a period specified by the examiners, this period not to exceed one calendar year, and may also be required to satisfy the examiners at any other examination as appropriate on the subject of the revised thesis; or
 - (iii) may be deemed to have failed and shall not be permitted to submit his or her thesis again for re-examination.

M34 Any publication based on work approved for the degree of Doctor of Medicine shall contain a reference to the effect that the work was submitted to the University of Hong Kong for the award of the degree of Doctor of Medicine.
